(note: our events typically are held on weekdays at 7pm, in certain cases other arrangements can be made)

Brief Synopsis of Event:

Literati has a strong social media following and a monthly event newsletter. We try to publicize our events as best as possible through our press contacts, but you may find you need more marketing for your event than we are able to provide. Ties to Michigan, connections with local community members, and any ability to spread the word all help! If you have any relevant means (i.e. social media platforms) to help bring guests into your event, please list them below:
